Journey of the Hero

WELCOME TO EXTUS

The year is 2508, The 26th century. The day was April 29 my birthdaty, and I remember it was 5 pm. I was now seventeen years old, the age where I should have been looking for what career I wanted to go into, but instead I was laying down looking up at the light green sky and was surrounded by the forest of dark blue trees. This was Extus, a planet in sector NGC 6744 or better known as the Twin Galaxy. I had asked many people what we were twins to, no one would ever answer me until I asked a old man who whispered to me that the galaxy and world we called home were similar to a other planet humanity had once called home. He told me humanity had left the nameless planet at the beginning of the 22nd century and I asked why we left and how did he know that? **

 His reply was no one truly knows and those who know of the planet all have different theories. He than winked at me and walked away. After that I searched through everything I could, all I ever got out of my search was the name of the planet: Earth. Oh I realise I never explained who I was, my name is Hiro Jackson. I have messy black hair, a thin build, not much muscle, plenty of speed, a tiny scar on my cheek, and I am sorta short being around 5,6. I have brown eyes, and tan skin, and I'm optimistic and upbeat. Back to me being in the woods through, I was awaken by my mother who had let me rest outside that night. She told me to get ready to go to school, so I got dressed in a short sleeve bright white shirt, black pants, and a long sleeve open button black shirt. **

 I had put on a necklace that had a pendent of two wings, one looked black, demonish, and pointy. The other was white, angelic, and smooth. I felt like I looked ok, so I brushed my teeth, put on deodorant, put on black and white socks, and matching shoes. I ran out of my house holding buttered biscults and started chewing them while running to the train that took me to school. I remember the train being silent, and looking outside the window at Extus Tower. The Extus Towers are the six tallest buildings on all of Extus. They are the headquarters of the New World Order, the NWO is the government here on Extus and they control the entire world.
